Best practice No.01

1. Title of the practice:- Promotion of Research and Intellectual Inquisitiveness .

2.Objective of the Practice:

1 To enhance the research output of the institution.

2 To inculcate the research habit among the students and teachers.

3. The Context: It's been thirty years since the foundation of the college, but no attempts had been made with respect to research and organizing seminars, conferences and workshop during the past years. There was a dearth of such intellectual activity and as a result, no research output was evident except few research paper published in journals and proceedings by the teachers. The students' inquisitiveness could not be nourished as a result of the dearth of such initiatives. Their scope remained limited to the curriculum in absence of inspiration and exposure of intellectual activity on the part of college. Hence, there was a dire need of taking initiative and introducing new policies so that such intellectual activities could be arranged and research habits could be honed.

4. The Practice:

As per the decision made in the first CDC, the English Department of the college extended a proposal of organizing a virtual conference to the principal who approved the proposal and extended all the help for this initiative. The HOD of English Department prepared the brochure after taking consents from the invited resource persons. The conference took place on 10 March, 2023 in presence of Principal, teaching staff and 55 other teachers and research scholars from across the country. About 33 participants submitted their papers for the publication and a special issue of the conference was published in an International Peer-reviewed journal, Langlit as a conference proceeding. Online feedback was received from the participants who showered appreciations and greetings upon the organizing team.

5. Evidence of Success:

As a result of this initiative taken by English department, a new confidence and enthusiastic zeal spread throughout the campus and other departments also expressed their desire to organize such events. Some senior faculty members were also inspired and got their research papers published in UGC CARE journal. All the reports and documents were maintained by IQAC.

Best practice No.02

- 1. Title of the practice:- Enhancing Awareness about Competitive Exams and Career Opportunities.

2. Objective of the Practice:

1. To provide an opportunity for the students of listening the valuable guidance of successful personalities on competitive exams.
2. To open the windows of career opportunities to the students.

3) The Context

The institute understands that along with the curricular knowledge, it is also important to feed the students with the career making knowledge and guidance so that the same may prove to be a ladder in the path of their success. Creating awareness amongst girls from remote areas about the way they should develop their personality and about the opportunities of making their careers is a matter of importance for us all. With this aim, every year we organize programs on Competitive Exams, Career Opportunities, Skill Enhancement and Personality Development Program. This practice has really proved to be a boon for the students and several students were benefitted and placed in the last few years. Considering the need of the guidance on competitive exams and career opportunities, in the current academic session of 2022-23 also, the college organized a national workshop on the topic and invited several eminent personalities from different sections of society.

About 90% girl students of the college come from the poorest, depressed and deprived backgrounds and the institute understands its responsibility to provide as better opportunities of getting knowledge and inspiration of competitive exams and career opportunities as possible. To actualize this aim, a workshop was organized on Career Guidance and Competitive Exams on 25th March, 2023 in which such eminent resource persons as a Sub-divisional Officer of Tumsar, B. Vaishnavi madam, Mr Naresh Babu Dipte from LIC, and Mr Jay Dongare from TISS were invited who bestowed the students with their experiences and knowledge of their fields which proved inspirational and motivating to the students. About 9 colleges of Tumsar Tahsil sent their students to participate in this event which became a mark of success for the college.

5) Evidence of Success

As a result of this initiative, several students took contact numbers of the invited guests and made personal contacts to them seeking more guidance. Several participants chose to become LIC agents and gave their details to Mr Naresh Babu Dipte. The coordinator of the program prepared a report of this motivational program and also took photos to be submitted and filed to IQAC.

National Virtual Conference

On

Marginalized Literature and Its Contribution in Redefining History

March 10, 2023

Organized by DEPARTMENT OF ENGLISH AND IQAC

About the Theme

Marginalization is a hegemonic phenomenon which benefits the few and hurls a cultural group into the vortex of deficiencies. History is testimony to the fact that marginalization caused by cultural policies lasts longer than that caused by other reasons. These cultural policies uphold the benefits of the privileged few and deprive the others from even basic human rights. Ardent faith in the cultural propaganda of the privileged group becomes one of the most potent reasons of the perpetuation of marginalization of the unprivileged. Caste, colour, race and religion has also been some of the most obvious agents which impose and reinforce marginalization on a targeted group. On the other hand, attempts of bringing about awareness about this marginalization through arts and literature are discouraged and killed with impunity by the lobbies of the privileged. Tastes and temperaments of the mainstream elites become standards by which the "other's" tastes are evaluated and thus the expressions of marginalization are declared unworthy. In different countries these terms hold different denominations. Moreover, the inherent hatred for the lowlier affects the literary judgements of the elites due to which their entire literature is marginalized like themselves. Hence is the term Marginalized Literature. However, the artists and writers of the unprivileged or marginalized communities have left no stone unturned to bring before the world how their marginalization rests on false myths and propaganda. Literature has proved to be a potent weapon in wiping out the stereotypical images and mythologised tales of the unprivileged class prevalent in the society for so long and thus in redefining the history which was otherwise merely a record of the elites only. The aim of this conference is to bring into discussion the literatures of such unprivileged and marginalized groups which played a vital part in redefining their history.

About the Area and College

Tumsar is as well known for its dense forest area, abundant rice fields and scintillating lakes as for its rich cultural heritage and historical importance. Tumsar is the place in Bhandara district where, as per the historical records, Mahatma Gandhi had sojourned during his mission of Nation-awakening. It is about 150 KM from Nagpur in the East and 33 KM from Bhandara in the North-east. It is surrounded by hills, lands, forestation and mineral mines. Knowing that it had always been hard for the girls of the district to travel long to take education, the founder of the Sudama Education Society, Shri Narayanrao Titimare planted a seed of the Women's college in 1990 which has now grown large enough to cater the needs of this largely forested area. The institution aimed to educate at least one girl from every family of Tumsar and with this mission, it has successfully imparted quality education to thousands of girls even from remote tribal villages of Bhandara district. The Institution is proud in boasting that hundreds of its girls have secured good positions in life.
